

Foreman - Feature #11087

Allow the use of a ssh finish template with vmware image user_data

07/10/2015 09:45 AM - Nick Burgess

Status: New
Priority: Low
Assignee:
Category: Compute resources - VMware
Target version:
Difficulty:	Fixed in Releases:
Triaged:	Found in Releases:
Bugzilla link:	Red Hat JIRA:
Pull request:
Description It seems that checking the user_data option when creating a image in a vmware compute resource precludes you from using a finish script when building from that image. It would be useful to allow both so that an ssh finish template can install/configure puppet and whatnot after the new host boots up, as the options for vmware user_data provision seem to be mostly limited to ip/networking configuration.	