

Foreman - Bug #11179

The widgets in satellite go far to right, making some of the widgets (such as task status) not very visible

07/21/2015 01:19 PM - Bryan Kearney

Status: Rejected
Priority: Normal
Assignee:
Category: Dashboard
Target version:
Difficulty:	Fixed in Releases:
Triaged:	Found in Releases:
Bugzilla link: 1244712	Red Hat JIRA:
Pull request:
Description
Cloned from https://bugzilla.redhat.com/show_bug.cgi?id=1244712
Description of problem:
The widgets in satellite go far to right, making some of the widgets (such as task status) not very visible: see the screenshots
Relates also to 1022877
Version-Release number of selected component (if applicable): Sat 6.1
How reproducible: always
Steps to Reproduce:
1. go to dashboard
2. reset to defaults if needed
3. try to find task status widgets
Actual results: Far right, outside of the standard view
Expected results: Showed at the bottom of the page

History

#1 - 07/21/2015 01:19 PM - Bryan Kearney

- Category set to Dashboard
- Assignee deleted (Ohad Levy)

#2 - 07/22/2015 03:44 AM - Dominic Cleal

- Status changed from New to Rejected

Doesn't look like a bug in Foreman, where all widgets get added to the bottom on reset for me. Probably because of Satellite's patches to change page width.