Description
all proxy exceptions that uses the wrapped exception hide important information, and do not even log to the log file the full message.
looking at the code, I can't really see any usefulness to the WrappedException class? maybe it should be removed?

Fixes #13599 - Wrapped exception truncate moved to client

Removed message truncation from server side, and moved it to client side - the message is truncated with ellipsis. On mouse over full message is presented as popover.

This commit required a small change to `data-ajax-url` handler in client to enable proper tooltip presentation in HTML loaded by AJAX.
