

Foreman - Bug #1517

The - sign for removing a class in wrong place with IE.

03/06/2012 05:32 AM - Steve Traylen

Status: Closed
Priority: Low
Assignee: Amos Benari
Category: Web Interface
Target version: 1.0
Difficulty:	Fixed in Releases:
Triaged:	Found in Releases:
Bugzilla link:	Red Hat JIRA:
Pull request:
Description
Hi, For the class add / remove page for a host with firefox and chrome all is good. With internet explorer the '-' to remove the class from a host appears one row down. Attached are screenshots for firefox, chrome and Internet Explorer 8. Steve (embarrassed)
Related issues:
Related to Foreman - Bug #1304: Long puppet classes makes the UI not correct	Closed 11/09/2011

History

#1 - 03/06/2012 08:14 AM - Ohad Levy

- Assignee changed from Ohad Levy to Amos Benari
- Target version set to 1.0

#2 - 05/21/2012 08:53 AM - Ohad Levy

Steve, can you confirm this still happens with latest git/ test rpms / nightly debs?

thanks!

#3 - 05/22/2012 04:59 AM - Steve Traylen

Where are the test rpms?

#4 - 05/22/2012 05:09 AM - Ohad Levy

people.redhat.com/jmontleo/foreman/

#5 - 05/23/2012 03:10 AM - Steve Traylen

Hi,

We checked IE with "foreman-0.5.1-1.el6.noarch", build date "Tue 08 May 2012 09:59:40 PM CEST" and - sign is now in the correct place.

Thanks
Steve.

#6 - 05/23/2012 12:18 PM - Steve Traylen

- Status changed from New to Closed
- % Done changed from 0 to 100

Files

firefox.tiff	6.93 KB	03/06/2012	Steve Traylen
chrome.tiff	24.1 KB	03/06/2012	Steve Traylen
InternetExplorer8.jpg	19.7 KB	03/06/2012	Steve Traylen