Foreman - Bug #1638

When editing a user and adding/editing the email address, trailing whitespace causes an input validation error.

Description
We can probably be a bit smarter about this and ignore leading and trailing whitespace.

fixes #1638 - remove whitespaces for user email instead of validation error sure, this sounds like a simple before_save callback, with sometihng like

before_save :normalize_email

private

def normalize_email
  self.email.strip! # or whatever is needed to fix the string end

also worth mentioning that it would be great to have a simple unit test which compares the two scenarios (see test/unit/user.rb)
