Description ping is not a great choice for IP detection - nmap would be much better. patch incoming

- Target version deleted (1.1)

Isn't this already taken care of?

#3 - 01/10/2013 05:46 AM - Greg Sutcliffe

No. We merged a patch to remove the net-ping dependency (and always shell out to system ping instead) but nmap is still pending. I have the code in a branch, but Ohad (as I recall) is still concerned about speed, and possible false-positives.

This has stalled, and I'm not convinced we're ever going to do it ;) Closing for now, we can always come back to it.
