

Foreman - Bug #2027

When doing bulk operations.. status of check boxes being selected remains cached even if they are no longer visible or part of the current search result.

Description

Example, say I search for hosts in domainx and select them all, and then do a different search for domainy, and select a single host in domainy and click delete, the user will be prompted to delete all the hosts from both searches. I feel that this is jarring to new user expectations.
