Fixes #29780 - Drop Passenger support

With Foreman 2.5, support to run with Passenger (technically `mod_passenger`) is dropped in favor of using Puma with a reverse proxy.

This also moves the request headers part of `settings.yaml` to a concat fragment to simplify some code.

It keeps in code to remove `tfm-rubygem-passenger-native` on EL7 which it previously didn't do, but is nice to do. It doesn't remove `mod_passenger` itself since that's not managed in this module.

Refs #29780 - Drop FOREMAN_BIND handling

In Foreman 2.4 FOREMAN_BIND was dropped and now Puma builds bind statements based on inherited sockets from `systemd`. That means it's no longer needed to match them. This gives a lot more freedom.

This PR chooses to remove the `foreman.socket` override if Apache is not enabled. This then uses the default `ListenStream` from the socket, which happens to be `0.0.0.0:3000` today but we don't really care.
