Description
\n\n*Description of problem:* \nwe currently configure the api service to only have a single worker:\n\n/etc/systemd/system/pulpcore-api.service\n\nExecStart=/usr/libexec/pulpcore/gunicorn pulpcore.app.wsgi:application \\\n--timeout 90 \\\n-w 1 \\\n\n\nGenerally this is fine, but we've seen some conditions where this isn't enough and can lead to errors. I think we should likely increase the default to something higher (4?) and make it configurable."

Fixes #33445: Increase default API gunicorn worker count

This increases the default API gunicorn worker count to be similar to that of content worker count but with a smaller minimum. There are different workloads that can require higher throughput through the API and the current default of 1 is too low of a starting point.
