Description

When I use the Global Registration feature to generate a command, sometimes I am on the Advanced tab when I'm ready to click the Generate button. If this is the case, I should be returned to the General tab so I can see the command.

To reproduce:
1. Visit Register Host page
2. Click Advanced tab and select an AK
3. Click Generate

Expected: I am returned to the General tab so that I can see the generated command.
Actual: The command is generated, but I must click the General tab to see it.

Update: We discovered that the command is actually rendered regardless of tab, but on the Advanced tab you can't see it because the Generate button is at the bottom of the screen and the command appears below that. You must scroll down to see it.

One possible option for solving this is to use a "Skip to content": https://patternfly-react.surge.sh/components/skip-to-content

The button would show once you generate the command.
