Description
This warning shows up in development. In production it doesn't because the file <code>bundler.d/test.rb</code> isn't shipped.

Remove duplicate puma gem declaration

This duplication doesn't show up in production, but in development and testing it does. By declaring it in `service.rb` for both groups it will still be included in both production setups and testing.

According to `36d17b1743569158e1a68d323e7222fa04168c0f` puma is needed in testing to run Capybara tests.
