Description

It would be nice if we could add a "Quick Search" to the top navigation bar. This would allow a user to start typing a a host's name and the box would start auto-populating with matches. Once a user clicks on the host, the user would be directed to the host properties page.

It is annoying to have to click the "Hosts" page and then use the browser's "Find" function each time you want to see a host's properties.

An example of this functionality is attached (PNG).
