Description

With the recent UI updates to Nutupane, and styling introductions of Patternfly and Boostrap 3 (post enginification) as well as the backend updates to the code base in favor of DynFlow, the Subscription Manager Applications page is essentially non-functional. After brief discussions with Tom, the proposed temporary solution is to remove the menu item for Subscription Manager Applications so as not to give users a false sense of an existing feature.

+1 to disabling the menu item until we get this functional.

What about the CLI/API?
