Description Cloned from https://bugzilla.redhat.com/show_bug.cgi?id=1096297 Per James Labocki, the provisioning template works for SAM but not katello. We should fix the upstream items to work with redhat, both SAM nad Katello, out of hte box.

As commented in pull-request, Foreman team suggests creation of a symlink to the the cert file instead of modifying the template.

after talking with @Eric Helms, the candlepin-cert-consumer-latest.noarch.rpm was actually the old name of the cert rpm being created. The new cert is derived from CA name or is configurable, so 2 things need to happen for the fix:

1) change puppet_katello override consumer_cert_rpm in katello_defaults.yml by changing katello.yml in the app config file.

2) update the template to read the consumer_cert_rpm config to derive the cert rpm path
