Description
Cloned from https://bugzilla.redhat.com/show_bug.cgi?id=1083314
Description of problem:
After syncing a puppet repo adding it to a content view, and viewing the repo, user gets "Packages" and "Errata" details in the Content column. This is not relevant for puppet data.

How reproducible:

Steps to Reproduce:

1. Sync a puppet repo (i.e., forge.puppetlabs.com)
2. Add this repo to a content view
3. From the main Content View UI, click the name of your CV.
4. View results

Actual results:

0 Packages
0 Errata (0 0 0)

Expected results:

Packages and Errata are irrelevant terms for a CV that contains only puppet modules.

I'm not sure if there is an easy way to remove this/figure out some sort of taxonomy, but an option might be to add "Puppet Modules" as an option in this column, so it might read, for ANY content view something like

0 Packages
0 Errata (0 0 0)
2238 Puppet Modules

or

1223 Packages
100 Errata (50 25 25)
0 Puppet Modules

In general -- we need to treat things contextually and not display information that is irrelevant and/or confusing for a given repo type.
