Pull request:
Description
Cloned from https://bugzilla.redhat.com/show_bug.cgi?id=1020808
Description of problem: Register a system via rhsm and use published CV name while passing the env name.
for ex:
subscription-manager register --username admin --password admin --org org-name --env env-name/cv-pub-name --force System should be registered successfully. Now when you navigate the system -->All -->system details page, you will see the "Environment Selection box" and "+ Additional information" link.
But when you navigate to some other tab like 'packages' or events and come back to details tab, the environment selection box and "+ Additional info" link disappears
Version-Release number of selected component (if applicable): snap6 compose2 (MDP2) katello-1.4.6-40.el6sat.noarch
How reproducible: always
Steps to Reproduce:
1. Create a product/repo and sync it
2. create a cv and select the product and publish it
3. Promote the cv to next env
4. Register the system via rhsm and pass published name along with env name (as suggested above)
5. Go to Systems --All > select registered systems --> details
6. Navigate to 'Package' or 'Events' tabs
7. Again select 'details' tab
Actual results: Environment selection box and '+ Additional info' link disappears from system's details page
Expected results: should be there

Fixes #6174/BZ 1020808 - ensure host advanced info link is displayed.

The problem was that the event 'contentHost.loaded' only fired upon the first visit to this page. Using the $promise instead results in the advanced info link being displayed each time.
