Description

The product removal help tip is only being displayed when a user does not have permission to remove the product instead of in all the cases it should be displayed. The remove button is also not hidden as it should be.

Products should not be able to be deleted if they have been published in a content view or if the product is a Red Hat product.

Steps to Reproduce

1. Create a product
2. Make it "readonly" by doing one of the above actions
3. Notice the delete button is still there and the help tip is not

Revision 40f32d00 - 06/25/2014 03:47 PM - Walden Raines

Fixes #6366/BZ1112865 - restore readonly product functionality.

When replacing the authorization system we removed the logic that determines whether or not a product is read only. This commit restores that logic.
