Description
The classes section of the hostgroups shifts to the left when adding a class to a host group. I have about 30 classes. Its very annoying and hurts my eyes. This is pertaining to the latest development build.

can you provide a screenshot?

does reducing the window size changes anything?

Reducing the window size does not help.

Steps to reproduce:

1. Click on module name so that it shows classes
2. Screen shifts to left, show classes and then shifts back to original position with classes shown underneath.

The screen shot doesn't help to much because the shifting is like an animation and the only way to capture it is with a video. I'll see if I can't get some sort of screencast software to capture it.
