| Description  |                           |
| The Authorization code turns of checking when Rake is defined. This is to allow "rake permissions:reset" to create the admin account, without being the admin user. Unfortunately rake is defined during a "rake test". |                           |
