Description
When you disable unattended mode, displaying the "Operating System" column isn't useful, instead a "Hostgroup" should be used.
Should be done after refactor #92

Code ready:

<http://github.com/pmenglund/foreman/commit/a724fe2bbce56a828ec66f1eacfe2cf65742082>

#2 - 11/27/2009 12:08 PM - Ohad Levy

can you merge/rebase your master to my master?
I would prefer it to merge cleanly :)

Thanks

I know! I botched the commit, but could not edit the post (that's why I asked for developer access)

I'm trying to figure out the best way to undo the change and commit it without the extra line.

I'll create a new branch, from my master and rebase your master (I think)

Try this commit instead:

I would display the hostgroup by default (e.g. with our without "build / unattended" support)

#7 - 12/01/2009 10:42 AM - Martin Englund

So with unattended support it would be:

Name, Operating System, Hostgroup, Environment & Last report

while with unattended support disabled it would be:

Name, Hostgroup, Puppet classes, Environment & Last report

sounds about right :)

- Target version set to 0.1-3

#10 - 12/04/2009 04:17 PM - Martin Englund

Patch on the way, I'm just trying to get aligned with your code. Which branch should I aim for? master or next?

master, I'll create a dev / patches howto in the wiki :)

#12 - 12/14/2009 06:09 AM - Ohad Levy

- Target version changed from 0.1-3 to 0.1-4

#13 - 03/08/2010 06:02 AM - Ohad Levy

- Status changed from New to Rejected

the whole host pages will be redone upon next release (current NO_AS branch), therefor I'm rejecting this ticket

#14 - 03/08/2010 07:06 AM - Ohad Levy

- Target version deleted (0.1-4)
